About Listen and Color:

Listen and Color is a FUN, interactive way for students to practice their listening skills! This activity can easily be used as an assessment, too. Included in all of my Listen and Color activities are recording sheets (monthly/yearly) to help you keep track of students' progress.

I use Listen and Color as a transition activity, usually between ELA and math, or after lunch. Students look forward to challenging themselves to see if they can listen 100% accurately!

Teacher Directions

1. Copy one "Listen and Color" picture page per student.
 2. Have students get out a box of crayons/markers
(red, orange, yellow, green, blue, purple, pink, brown, black, gray).
 3. Use the "Directions" page and read off one direction at a time
(I start off the year reading each one twice. Then, by November I only say it once). You can choose from the "Single-Step Directions" for beginners, or the
"Multi-Step Directions" for intermediate kiddos.
 4. When the activity is finished, display the "Color Key" on the LCD projector so students can assess how well they followed directions. Or, you can collect this and grade it as a listening skills assessment (each one is out of 10 to make grading easy).
- *For each Color Key, I have included a blank copy in case you want to color in your own for display.
